This is the only document which contains the software CD key. You will need the CD key to install your software.

Please read the following information before beginning the download process.

The file you are about to download is VERY LARGE. Due to the large file size, you should be aware that it could take an unusually long time for the download process to complete, even on a high-speed network connection.

Important File Information
File name:	Office2007.exe
CD Key:	G8WG4-F92F9-VB8KR-7T7F4-83RMJ
File size:	518 MB
Free disk space required:	1.00 GB to 2.89 GB
Estimated download time:	8.05 minutes @ 10 Mb/s

Note to Internet Explorer users: Internet Explorer will first download the file to your Temporary Internet Files folder, then copy it to its final destination. If the disk on which your Temporary Internet Files folder is located does not have enough free space to hold the file, you will receive an incomplete download. In this case, you will need to move your Temporary Internet Files folder to a disk which has sufficient free space for this file. The location of your Temporary Internet Files folder can be changed within Internet Explorer under Internet Options->General->Temporary Internet Files->Settings->Move Folder.

Below are the steps to download and install your software. It is important to read all of these steps before beginning the download process:

1. Print these instructions (click here to open these instructions in a browser with print capabilities).
2. Click the link below to read and accept the License Agreement and begin the download process.
3. When prompted, choose to save the file and specify a file location where you would like the file to be stored. Keep in mind that the file is very large and you will need ample space to store the file (see "Free disk space required" above).
4. Wait for the download process to complete. Be patient, this process could take an unusually long time, even on a high-speed network connection.
5. Once the download process is complete, locate the downloaded file on your computer and open the file (usually by clicking or double-clicking on the file icon).
6. Once the downloaded file has been opened, follow the instructions to complete the installation. Again, be patient, the first step of the installation process is to uncompress a large number of files and will typically take a long time.
7. Once the downloaded file has been uncompressed, the software installation will begin. (At this point you can optionally delete the downloaded file if you need extra disk space to complete the installation).
